Synopsis Books:

In this unique book the text and visual images offer parallel narratives that resonate poignantly with each other. The paintings quietly reflect the alienating experience of hospitalisation. The story is a gripping account by a lonely man who is diagnosed with cancer just before his retirement. The night before a scheduled operation he starts writing a "memorandum" about a strange conversation he was party to during his previous stay in hospital, and the profound effect it had on his life. During the act of writing he comes to a life-changing decision.
